

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The present work has been completed with the active assistance and guidance of many professors, teachers, friends, relatives, officers and professionals have rendered their invaluable help at various stages. Although it would not be possible to mention all names of those who rendered their valuable and generous help in their own way, but it would be ungrateful, if I, do not acknowledge those, without whose assistance it would not have been possible to conduct this study.

It is my profound privilege and immense debt of gratitude to acknowledge the guidance provided by Dr. Preeti Mishra (Guide) and Dr. Divya Gangwar. It is primarily their encouragement and guidance, which have been a source of deep and heartfelt inspiration to me. I express my sincere thanks to Dr. Sushil Pande (Incharge , School of Manangement , BBD University) and other faculty members of SOM ,BBDU.

I wish to express my heartfelt thanks to Miss Richa Sharan (Agriculture Officer , Punjab National Bank) and Mr. Ashish Nigam (Manager , Canara Bank) who have always helped me with the queries related to my topic and helped me in every way possible.

I am grateful to my family, Dr. Randheer Singh and Mrs. Saroj Singh and Miss Richa Singh who encouraged and inspired me at every stage of present work and providing immense love, affection, care, physical, psychological and moral and support. I am also thankful to my friends and colleagues who kept me encouraging in accomplishing this work.